

Summer Academy for North Atlantic Treaty Association (NATO) and European Union
Common Foreign and Security Policy (EU CFSP) studies
14 – 30 August 2011

Prishtina – Skopje – Tirana – Podgorica – Prishtina

RKS MK AL MNE RKS

The NATO and EU are the most prominent examples on how regional integration works. For 28 Euro-Atlantic member states, respectively 27 EU members states supranational policy-making determines not only their political and security systems; the global challenges of the 21st century illustrate the limitations of power of individual governments, these requiring common approaches. As a consequence, integration is also considered important for European security policy.

This summer academy provides students with 4 Bachelor ECTS, and 2 Master ECTS.

The students of this Summer Academy will be divided in two classes:

Class 1: The Transformation of NATO: From Defense Alliance to Security Management Institution

Class 2: Past, present and the future Common Foreign and Security Policy of the European Union

The objective of this summer academy is to provide students a broad understanding on the historical development, the security, and the social, political and philosophical dimensions of the Euro-Atlantic integration process. Further, the course analyses NATO's role as an international political and economical factor and its relations with different countries and regions of the world.

Based on an interdisciplinary approach the courses combine different methodologies such as lectures, round-table discussions, group-work and students' presentations along with excursions to meet politicians, as well as professionals from Kosovo, Macedonia, Albania and Monte Negro.

Target Group

Students with different academic backgrounds and a general interest in Euro-Atlantic integration will benefit from each other in an intercultural and interdisciplinary learning process. Former classes consisted of regular students and practitioners such as civil servants, communication experts, young politicians and even parliamentary officials.

The course does not require special knowledge about NATO policies and institutions, European politics, law, history or culture, but participants should be interested in more than just their field of specialization. In class participation, especially in the discussions with experts, is essential for the course success and plays an important role in grading.

Lectures, presentations and examinations will be held in English.
